

MRS. GALT IS TARGET OF FRIENDS AND FOES IN SUFFRAGE CAUSE

Both Sides Line Up to Get Her Interested, But She Will Not Give Snap Judgment

BUSY-PLANNING WEDDING

Rumor Persists That the Ceremony Will Have Been Performed by Thanksgiving Holidays

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Both the suffragettes and the anti's are quietly maneuvering to obtain the support of Mrs. Norman Galt, fiancée of President Wilson. It became known today that influential friends of Mrs. Galt who are allied on both sides of the great question have been endeavoring to get her interested.

To all Mrs. Galt, it is understood, has taken the position that she has not interested herself in the question sufficiently to have formed an opinion, and she does not desire at this time to take snap judgment.

Mrs. Galt has kept so busy arranging her extensive business affairs and making preparations for her coming wedding that she has found little time for discussion of other problems.

The White House again has stepped in to end speculation regarding the date of the wedding. Its statement that "no date yet has been fixed" is not accepted at its face value, and opinion continues general that the ceremony will have been performed by the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Galt and the President continue to take advantage of the splendid autumn weather and spend each afternoon motoring through the city's parks and out into Maryland. The old plan of Secret Service men following the President in another high-wheeled motor has been abandoned. Nowadays only one guard, Joe Murphy, in charge of the detail, goes along.

PASTOR'S PLEA SAVES MAN

Tells Magistrate Wife of Prisoner Is a Drug User

A clergyman appeared in the 25th and Oxford streets station today to plead for the husband of a drug user.

Thomas Munro, 2415 Montgomery avenue, was arraigned before Magistrate Morris accused of assault and battery. His wife was in the Northwestern General Hospital, being treated for a wound to her forehead, said to have been inflicted by Munro.

The Rev. S. D. Nichols, pastor of the Lehigh Avenue Methodist Church, told the Magistrate that Florence Munro, the wife, was addicted to the use of drugs and was boisterous and disorderly. He testified that Munro ordinarily was a model husband.

Magistrate Morris discharged Munro and advised him to consult a physician as to the advisability of committing his wife to an institution. When Munro said he could not afford to send her to a private institution, the Magistrate suggested the House of Correction, saying that the popular conception of that place was very different from what it really is, and that he would rather spend all his life there than one day at the Philadelphia almshouse.

WILL BARS STEPCHILDREN

An estate valued at $7500 is disposed of by the provisions of the will of Thomas D. Evans, late of 655 West Johnson street, which was admitted to probate today. Mrs. Louisa M. Evans, the widow of the decedent, is the sole legatee, with the proviso that two children of hers by a former marriage shall not benefit by the bequest.

Other wills probated were those of James Burke, late of 2566 Coral street, and Harriet Boyd, 2411 Kimball street, both disposed of effects valued at $600 and $700, respectively, in private bequests. An account of the estate of William Allen, who died in July, 1914, has been filed with the Register of Wills for audit by the Orphans' Court by its executor, Augustus F. Dax, Jr., and Albert F. Eger. The estate has been appraised at $294,446.91, of which there remains a balance of $189,210.68 on its distribution. The personality of the estate of George S. Warman has been appraised at $12,282.97; William C. Cottman, $7500; James Warne, $4468.57, and William B. Drexel, Jr., $2700.

NEWS AND ADVERTISING

Their Close Relation Discussed at Poor Richard Luncheon

The development of the news value in advertising formed the basis of an informal address made today by B. Rowland Hall, of the Portland Cement Company, at the regular weekly luncheon of the Poor Richard Club, at its clubhouse, 10 South Camac street. The title of Mr. Hall's address was "From the Abstract to the Concrete."

The speaker pointed out the value of advertising in advertising to the prevailing news. He cited the cement war at Galveston as an example of this adaptation of a cement company of a news dispatch. The tendency toward this feature of advertising, he said, is not old, but it will develop. Robert H. Durbin, president of the organization, presided.

His Defense of Pneumatic Mail Tubes. Final plans were made today by the Business Men's Committee which will go to Washington tomorrow and protest to Postmaster General Burleson against the removal of the pneumatic mail tubes. The committee met in the office of George S. Burtel, in the Bohrs Building. Matters which will outline the objections of the business men before Mr. Burleson. An address also will be made by L. G. Grant, president of the Commercial Exchange. William Martin will speak for the United Business Men and business men of other sections.

MELLEN LETTERS TELL NEW HAVEN METHOD OF OUSTING RIVALS

Acquiring of Manhattan From Morgan in 1893 Shut Out New England Railroad From New York

'ABSORBING ARBITRARIES'

Witness Explains Process of Cutting Off Competition Was "Sanctioned by Every Railroad"

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven Railroad, resumed the witness stand today as a Government witness in the conspiracy trial of William Rockefeller and other New Haven directors.

How the New Haven paved the way to shut the New England out of New York city was shown by a letter identified by Mellen and read by the Government, written in 1893, on Charles P. Clark, president of the New Haven, to the late J. P. Morgan. Clark asked Morgan to get out of the Manhattan Railway so that the New Haven might acquire that line. The Manhattan was the only ingress of the New York and Northern Railway into New York.

PROCESS OF ABSORPTION. Frank M. Swacker, assistant Attorney General, then read a letter from Mellen to General Traffic Manager Weller, of the Boston and Albany, relative to cutting off freight traffic from the New England. Next the Government, through letters, showed how the New Haven sought, through discrimination against the Boston and Albany to cripple the freight traffic of the New York Central in New England.

Mellen then explained at great length the New Haven's motive in its action against the New York Central, and also explained the railway operations known as "absorbing arbitraries."

"It is a process," Mellen said, "sanctioned by every railroad for cutting off freight traffic from connecting lines that are competitors."

MELLEN AND MORGAN.

How Mellen in 1894, by "taking the bull by the horns," overcame the disfavor of the late J. P. Morgan was related by Mellen at the afternoon session.

"Mr. Clark told me," said Mellen, "that Mr. Morgan was much exercised about the nuisance growing out of efforts to shut the New York Central out of New England and that Mr. Morgan was inclined to think I had fomented the trouble. I went as soon as I could to Mr. Morgan's offices in New York and asked to see him. I was shown into a rear room and soon he appeared."

"What can I do for you?" Mr. Morgan said. "I told him I understood he did not like me. He said that was right. "I then told him that what I had done was done on the suggestion of Mr. Clark. Mr. Morgan replied that he had been misinformed and had been used for a doorman. We shook hands and were friends afterwards."

Following this the Government read a letter from Mellen to Clark telling of a plan by the New York Central to open its New York freight terminals to the New York and Northern, which would give the New York and New England an entrance to New York.

"This would be the severest blow to the New Haven and might ruin our New York freight business," Mellen wrote. Mellen went at great length into a letter he wrote to Clark about the operation of New York Central trains out of the Harlem station. He said he wrote it because he considered it his duty to tell the president all that was going on.

BOY MINORS' PERMITS VALID

Good Until They Reach Age of 16, Says Attorney General Brown

HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—Attorney General Brown has delivered a verbal opinion to the Department of Labor and Industry to the effect that employment certificates now held by minors shall be valid until their holders reach the age of 16, under the terms of the new child labor law which goes into effect January 1 next.

This will be followed later today with a written opinion which, if sustained, will have a wide effect.

PHONES TO FRISCO, GETS GIRL'S PROMISE TO WED

Music's Charms Arouse Young Philadelphian and He 'Makes Up' With Her

Listless and distraught, Charles P. Corsi lounged in the lobby of his hotel, slowly puffing ribbons of smoke from his after-dinner cigar and watching them curl idly upward. His thoughts wandered moodily from scene to scene until they darted swiftly across thousands of miles of continent and lodged in the Golden Gate City on the edge of the Pacific Ocean. In the smoke wreaths he fancied he saw the face of a girl he knew as Doris—a girl who lived in that California city whom he had come to love deeply, only to have his romance shattered by a foolish tiff.

As these incidents unrolled like a panorama before him, he suddenly realized that from the dimly-lighted room beyond a piano was rippling out the strains of that great melody of lovers, Tschakowsky's "Romance." It was doubly sweet music to Corsi, for it was that very music that filled the air, played by a world-famous orchestra, on the day he first met the girl to whom his thoughts had turned.

PORTER'S PERSONAL PROPERTY LEVIED ON

Candidate Calls Action "Eleventh Hour Campaign Trick"

The personal property of George D. Porter, independent candidate for Mayor, was levied upon today for an alleged debt of $7225, with charges.

"It is purely a political, eleventh-hour campaign trick," said Mr. Porter, when told of the action. "I do not intend to pay any attention to it."

The levy was made by Deputy Sheriff John B. Vollmer, who served a writ of execution at the nominee's home, 2915 Wayne avenue.

Henry E. Gallaher, of Childs, Md., a town named after George W. Childs, is the claimant. Gallaher asserts that Mr. Porter, together with Charles Wegner, who, he says, cannot be found, failed to pay him a stipulated sum under a patent agreement signed by both Mr. Porter and Wegner.

Alexander D. Lauer, a member of the State House of Representatives and a Republican Organization man, is Gallaher's attorney. He said today the writ was issued because the majority nominee had failed to reply to repeated requests for settlement. George Wentworth Carr, who is Mr. Porter's attorney in the case, said today he received the papers in the case only two days ago, and that yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and again at 9 o'clock this morning he had tried to get in touch with Lauer, but that he had been advised by Lauer's office that Lauer was out of the city. Mr. Carr explained that he had been unable to prepare his affidavit of defense because of Mr. Porter's numerous engagements, and that he had intended to ask for an extension of time, which is usually granted by attorneys in cases such as this.

Abbotts "A" Milk Is Clean One reason why "A" milk is clean is that the farmers who produce it are required to use a small top milk pail which keeps foreign matter from falling into the milk, thereby reducing the bacteria count 90 per cent. After this care in production, we make sure the milk is clean and safe by means of the country bacteria test and pasteurizing in our big city plant. Small top milk pail used by our Farmers. ORGANIZATION AGAIN SEEKS POLICE CONTRIBUTIONS

Downtown Stations Get "Important" Letter Marked "Final Notice"

Efforts by Organization ward committeemen to solicit contributions from policemen were called to the attention of Director Dripps this afternoon.

The Director was shown a postal addressed to police in the southern stations, ordering them to appear at the 25th Ward Committee headquarters. The card was marked "Final Notice." It was signed by Frank J. Ryan, Republican City Committeeman from the 26th Ward. The postal read:

Call at the headquarters of the Republican Committee of the 25th Ward, 1255 Point Breeze avenue, no later than November 1, 1915. Important. Final notice. Director Dripps addressed the following letter to Ryan:

Permit me to ask whether this notice was intentionally sent to city employees? What is the meaning of the words "important" and "final notice"? It looks like an attempt through a personal interview to force contributions or political activity. Was this the intention?

As you well know, the Mayor and his directors have tried to save city employees from the necessity of making contributions to any political party whatever.
